We are committed to safeguarding your personal information that you entrust to us while using our websites and Services, including use of the following: adromkt.com and other company websites including subdomains.

Definitions

Personal Data: means any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (‘data subject’); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person.

Processing: means any operation or set of operations which is performed on personal data or on sets of personal data, whether or not by automated means, such as collection, recording, organization, structuring, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultation, use, disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available, alignment or combination, restriction, erasure or destruction.

Restriction of Processing: means the marking of stored personal data with the aim of limiting their processing in the future.

Controller: means the natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which, alone or jointly with others, determines the purposes and means of the processing of personal data; where the purposes and means of such processing are determined by Union or Member State law, the controller or the specific criteria for its nomination may be provided for by Union or Member State law.

Processor: means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency or other body which processes personal data on behalf of the controller.

Consent of the Data Subject: means any freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous indication of the data subject's wishes by which he or she, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, signifies agreement to the processing of personal data relating to him or her.

3. Protection of personal data

We endeavor to ensure protection of the information submitted to us, both during transmission and once we receive it. We maintain appropriate administrative, technical and physical safeguards to protect Personal Data against accidental or unlawful destruction, accidental loss, unauthorized alteration, unauthorized disclosure or access, misuse, and any other unlawful form of processing of the Personal Data in our possession. This includes, for example, firewalls, password protection and other access and authentication controls.

However, no method of transmission over the Internet, or method of electronic storage, is 100% secure. We cannot ensure or warrant the security of any information you transmit to us and you do so at your own risk. We also cannot guarantee that such information may not be accessed, disclosed, altered, or destroyed by breach of any of our physical, technical, or managerial safeguards. If you believe your Personal Data has been compromised, please contact us.

4. Retention of personal data

We may retain data for different periods of time for different purposes as required by statute, our legitimate interests or best business practices. Other statutory obligations, legal processes and inquiries may also necessitate the retention of certain data.

5. Data Transfers around the world

We may have processors in different countries around the world and thus your personal data may be processed, used or transferred worldwide. We ensure that all necessary safeguards and security measures are in place, as deemed appropriate, under the relevant national, international laws.

6. Changes to this Privacy and Refund Policy

6.1 We reserve the right to revise and update this Privacy and Data Protection Policy from time to time in part or in full by publishing the new version on our website.

6.2 We encourage you to check our Privacy and Refund Policy periodically to keep yourselves updated with the changes.

6.3 To view the latest version of our Privacy and Refund Policy, click the <Privacy and Refund Policy> link at the following address: <http://adromkt.com/>. In case of such revisions, the new revised version of the Privacy and Refund Policy shall become effective on the date of its publication, unless otherwise is provided by the revised version of the Privacy and Refund Policy.

7. Your Rights

(a) the right to access

You have the right to confirmation as to whether or not we process your personal data and, where we do, access to the personal data, together with certain additional information. That additional information includes details of the purposes of the processing, the categories of personal data concerned and the recipients of the personal data. Providing the rights and freedoms of others are not affected, we will supply to you a copy of your personal data.

(b) the right to rectification

You have the right to request to have any inaccurate personal data about you rectified and, taking into account the purposes of the processing, to have any incomplete personal data about you completed.

(c) the right to erasure

In some circumstances you have the right to request the erasure of your personal data if established that the personal data is no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which it was collected or otherwise processed; you withdraw permission to authorization-based processing; you object to the processing under certain rules of applicable data protection law and if established that the personal data has been unlawfully processed. However, there are exclusions of the right to erasure. The general exclusions include where processing is necessary for exercising the right of freedom of expression and information, for compliance with a legal obligation or for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims and for reasons of public interest.

(d) the right to restrict processing

In some circumstances you have the right to restrict the processing of your personal data, for example when you contest the accuracy of the personal data; processing is unlawful but you oppose erasure; we no longer need the personal data for the purposes of our processing, but you require personal data for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims; and you have objected to processing, pending the verification of that objection. Where processing has been restricted on this basis, we may continue to store your personal data and we will only process it for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims, for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person or for reasons of important public interest.

(e) the right to object to processing

You have the right to object to our processing of your personal data on grounds relating to your particular situation, but only to the extent that the legal basis for the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of any official authority vested in us or the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by us or by a third party. If you make such an objection, we will cease to process the personal information unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing is for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.

You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data for scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes on grounds relating to your particular situation, unless the processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out for reasons of public interest.

(f) the right to data portability

You have the right to obtain the personal information provided to us given that

- the processing is based on authorization; or
- the processing is carried out by automated means, you have the right to receive your personal data from us in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format. However, this right does not apply where it would adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others.

(g) the right to complain to a supervisory authority

If you consider that the processing of your personal information infringes data protection laws, you have a legal right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority responsible for data protection.

(h) the right to withdraw authorization.

To the extent that the legal basis for our processing of your personal information is authorization, you have the right to withdraw that authorization at any time in which case we may not be able to provide to you some of the features and functionality of our Services. Withdrawal of permission will not affect the lawfulness of processing prior to the withdrawal request.

8. Notification of Breaches

In the event of unauthorized breaches or intrusions into our systems, that may affect your personal data security, we will notify you as soon as it is practically feasible and we will take all necessary measures and actions to avoid future occurrences and similar phenomena.

9. Refund Policy

You agree to follow the applicable terms of use or any other legal agreement with Adro Markets, a Payment Processor or a third party that governs the use of a given payment processing method.
